Summer Decluttering: A Jewish Path to Balance and Legacy

A rabbi once asked his congregants, "Why do we have so many things in our homes?" One wise elder answered, "Because we're afraid to throw anything away in case the Messiah comes and needs a slightly used bread machine and seventeen phone chargers for outdated devices!" Do you recognize yourself in this joke? Surrounded by possessions you're holding onto "just in case."

As summer heat intensifies, and we find ourselves staying indoors more—enjoying the protection of air conditioning—this season presents a perfect opportunity to engage in the art of decluttering. We can use these coming months as a spiritual process of reflecting on what we truly need to carry forward into the new year and what we might lovingly release.

In our tradition, the concept of "Dayenu"—it would have been enough—reminds us of the profound gratitude for having just what we need. While we often apply this concept during Passover, its wisdom extends to our daily lives and physical spaces. The Torah teaches us about the manna in the desert: those who gathered too much found it spoiled, while those who gathered just enough had precisely what they needed.

Our homes should reflect this principle—not barren, but not overwhelmed by possessions that cloud our sense of purpose and peace. When we surround ourselves with just the right amount of "stuff," we create space for what truly matters: connection, reflection, and gratitude for what surrounds us.

Towards the end of summer, we will read from the book of Deuteronomy about the principle of bal tashchit (do not destroy or waste), which prohibits cutting down fruit trees during wartime. Over generations, our sages expanded this concept to encompass all needless waste of resources.

This reminds us that respecting our possessions is not just practical wisdom but a spiritual mandate. When we hold onto items we no longer use or need, we prevent them from fulfilling their purpose elsewhere.

The worn but still serviceable winter coat in the back of our closet could warm someone else. The kitchen gadgets we haven't touched in years could help another family prepare nourishing meals. By decluttering, we honor the resources that went into creating these items and ensure they continue to serve their purpose. When we donate usable items to those in need, we participate in the sacred work of tikkun olam—repairing the world.

BUT perhaps the most profound aspect of thoughtful decluttering is how it connects us to our legacy. The Hebrew phrase "l'dor v'dor"—from generation to generation—reminds us that what we pass on matters deeply.

When we face the sometimes-daunting task of sorting through a lifetime of accumulated possessions, we receive an opportunity to focus on those moments in time, the achievements, the lessons, and the memories we wish to pass on to the next generations.

When we hold onto everything, we risk burdening our loved ones with difficult decisions after we're gone. By contrast, when we mindfully create our possessions during our lifetime, we can share the stories behind meaningful items and ensure they reach the hands of those who will treasure them.

Consider the family photographs languishing in boxes, the heirlooms packed away in attics, the books gathering dust on shelves. Summer offers us the gift of time to sort through these treasures: to digitize photos so they can be shared widely, to pass along the silver Kiddush cup with its story of survival, to inscribe a beloved book before giving it to a young person who will appreciate its wisdom.

So, this is my challenge to you this summer: DECLUTTER!

Here are some simple steps to help you begin:

1. Set aside regular, manageable periods for this sacred work—perhaps Sunday afternoons or weekday evenings.
2. Before beginning, set an intention or offer a simple prayer about letting go with gratitude.
3. For each item, consider: Does it serve a purpose? Does it bring joy? Could it better serve someone else?
4. Create designated spaces for donations, recycling, items to pass to specific loved ones, and yes, some things to discard.
5. Share the stories behind meaningful items as you pass them along.

Our tradition teaches that how we organize our physical spaces reflects and influences our spiritual lives. This summer, as we lighten our homes of unnecessary burdens, may we also create more space in our hearts for joy, connection, and the sacred moments that truly constitute a well-lived life.

May your summer be filled with the lightness that comes from living with "just enough," and may the possessions you choose to keep, and share become vessels for your most cherished values and memories.

Rabbi Garon

Dear TJ Family,

As we enter the summer months, I wanted to share some important updates and reminders with our community. This edition of our newsletter covers both June and July, so please be sure to check your weekly emails for more detailed and timely information throughout this period.

We are delighted to be welcoming both Rabbi Wendy Pein and Cantorial Soloist Kaylene Cole to our clergy team in their full-time capacities beginning July 1. Both Rabbi Pein and Kaylene are eager to meet everyone and become integral parts of our community. Please join us on Thursday, July 10th after minyan at 10:30 a.m. for a light brunch, sponsored by our Sisterhood, to say hi and introduce yourself to them. We will have several other opportunities throughout the beginning of this year, and I know I speak on their behalf when I say they welcome the opportunity to get to know you!

While summer often brings travel and schedule changes for many families, I encourage you not to be a stranger. Our congregation remains active during these warmer months, and we have many opportunities for connection and spiritual growth. Whether you're in town or checking in from afar, please stay in touch with us. Drop by for Shabbat services, join us online, or simply reach out to say hello. Our doors—both physical and virtual—remain open to you.

Be on the lookout for our annual magazine, which will be arriving in your mailboxes soon! This comprehensive publication contains everything you need to know about this year's worship services, classes, scholars in residence programs, and much more. Our theme for this upcoming year is "Conversations that Matter and Conversations Matter". We encourage you to save the dates for events that spark your interest and hope you will find many meaningful ways to engage in temple life. Your participation enriches not only your own experience but strengthens our entire congregation!

Wishing you all a peaceful, joyful, and meaningful summer,

Morli

Lunch and Learn with Rabbi Wendy
Torah on Trial: When Jewish Traditions Meet Modern Life
Wednesdays at 11:45 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

During our Lunch & Learn series, we will dive into the fascinating world of Reform Responsa, where real-life questions about Jewish practice meet thoughtful inquiry. Reform Responsa is the continuation of a rich tradition of Jewish legal and ethical inquiry that has helped communities navigate changing times for centuries. Together, we'll wrestle with relevant, real-life questions such as whether chanting Torah on a Friday night truly honors Shabbat, how to respectfully fulfill a loved one's request for cremation, whether a Pride flag—or any flag—belongs on the bimah, and if Jews should embrace secular holidays with complex histories. We'll unpack the historical sources behind each case, weigh the Reform Responsa Committee's ruling, and decide whether we agree – because Reform Judaism is a living, breathing tradition shaped by every generation. Expect lively debate, fresh insight, and perhaps forming questions which we will send to the Responsa Committee! I look forward to learning and debating these real-life cases with you!

8/13 Unlocking the Responsa Toolbox – A fast tour of 1,500 years of rabbinic Q & A
– and why Reform answers still rewrite the script of Jewish life

- 9/10 Lineage and the Ignition Key – Patrilineal descent and driving on Shabbat – two rulings that redrew denominational borders and everyday practice
- 10/15 Shabbat 3.0 – The Reform Upgrade – Three teshuvot trace our movement's journey from rejecting to creatively reclaiming sacred rest
- 11/19 One Roof, Many Jews - Real-life cases show how responsa help congregations juggle mixed practice, mixed marriages, and mixed beliefs
- 12/10 Deck the Halls? December (and beyond) Dilemmas – Which secular holidays fit a Jewish home – and makes a celebration “kosher-enough”?
- 1/14 End of Life Responsa – Cremation, green burials, on line memorials, how modern teshuvot navigate dignity at life's end
- 2/11 Sacred Cells and Designer Genes – IVF, stem cells, organ swaps, CRISPR – pikuach nefesh meets 21st century medicine
- 3/4 Scrolls with Scars – Can a Holocaust damaged Torah be made kosher again? And should it be? Responsa on memory and law collide
- 4/15 Flags on the Bimah, Faith in the Pew – Zionism, nationalism and the Reform sanctuary; should there be a division of religion and state in the sanctuary

Sacred Transitions: Jewish Perspectives on End-of-Life Decisions

Join Rabbi Yaron for an intimate and meaningful discussion exploring Jewish perspectives on end-of-life planning and decisions. This thoughtful session will provide a safe space to explore challenging topics through the lens of Jewish tradition, ethics, and modern considerations.

This class will be offered four times this year. Each session will cover these topics:

- Ethical Wills: Explore the beautiful Jewish tradition of ethical wills (tzava'ot), where individuals pass down values, wisdom, and blessings to future generations. Rabbi Yaron will share historical examples and guide participants in considering what spiritual legacies they wish to leave behind.
- End-of-Life Medical Decisions: Discuss the Jewish approach to medical treatment decisions, including perspectives on palliative care, life-sustaining measures, and the balance between extending life and alleviating suffering. The discussion will incorporate both traditional halachic (Jewish law) considerations and contemporary responsa.
- Cremation and Burial Practices: Examine traditional Jewish burial customs, the theological and practical concerns regarding cremation, and how different Jewish movements approach these questions today.

Throughout the session, Rabbi Yaron will weave together ancient wisdom with practical guidance for navigating these profound life transitions with dignity, meaning, and Jewish values. Participants will have opportunities to ask questions and discuss how these teachings might inform their own decision-making processes. Class size is limited.

First Session on August 6 at 3:00 p.m.
